TECH EXCHANGE · ESSENTIAL DIGITAL LITERACY

Class 2 — Communicate & Collaborate

NAME _____

Thursday, August 27, 2026 · 11:00 AM – 3:00 PM
1721 Broadway, Oakland · MacArthur Meeting Room
FINAL CLASS Your laptop goes home with you today

ALL THE SLIDES ARE ONLINE

Everything from both classes — every slide, both handouts — lives at the link on the last page of this handout. Bookmark it with `Ctrl` + `D` and you can look anything up at home.

Lab 5 · Send Your First Real Email

12 MINUTES · HOUR 1

One message sent, found, and filed.

1. Open your browser. In the address bar type gmail.com and press `Enter`.
2. Sign in with your email address and password.
3. Click Compose at the top left.
4. In To, type the class address written on the board. Check every letter.
5. In Subject, type: Email Basics — your first name.
6. In the body, write one sentence about something you learned on Tuesday.
7. Click Send.
8. Click Sent on the left. Your message should be there.
9. Open it. Click the label icon at the top. Create a label called Workshops.

YOU ARE DONE WHEN

You click Workshops on the left and your message is sitting there.

IF IT GOES WRONG

Message bounced back? Check the address for a comma instead of a dot.
Can't find the label icon? It looks like a small luggage tag, along the top of the open message.
Sent it too soon? Look for Undo at the bottom of the screen — you have a few seconds.

Lab 6 · Put Your Files in the Cloud

12 MINUTES · HOUR 2

A copy of your contact card that survives if the laptop doesn't.

1. In Gmail, click the nine-dot grid at the top right. Click Drive.
2. Click + New, then Folder. Name it Personal. Click Create.
3. Click + New again, then File upload.
4. Go to Documents → My Files → Personal. Click My Info.txt, then Open.
5. Wait for the small progress box at the bottom right to finish.
6. Drag the uploaded file into your Personal folder in Drive.
7. Click + New, then Google Docs. Click Untitled document at the top left and give it a real name.

YOU ARE DONE WHEN

You can open your contact card from Drive without touching Documents on the laptop.

REMEMBER

Uploading makes a copy. The original is still on your laptop. That is the whole point — two files, in two places.

Lab 7 · Join the Practice Meeting

12 MINUTES · HOUR 3

Everyone in this room, in the same video call.

1. In the address bar type zoom.us and press `Enter`.
2. Click Join a Meeting.
3. Type the Meeting ID from the board. Click Join.
4. Type your first name the way you want others to see it.
5. Click Allow for the microphone, then Allow for the camera.
6. Wait in the waiting room. Do not close the tab and do not rejoin.
7. Once you are in: mute, unmute, camera off, camera on.
8. Click Chat and send a short hello.
9. Raise your hand, then lower it again.
0. Leave using the red button at the bottom right.

YOU ARE DONE WHEN

You have joined, spoken or chatted, raised your hand, and left on purpose.

IMPORTANT

Keep your microphone muted unless your instructor asks you to speak. Many unmuted microphones in one room causes a loud screech.

Lab 8 · Join One, Start One

12 MINUTES · HOUR 4

From guest to host. The last thing you build.

1. Open gmail.com. Find the invitation from your instructor.
2. Click the blue Join with Google Meet button.
3. On the preview screen, check your face and lighting. Nobody can see you yet.
4. Turn on background blur if you want to. Then click Join now.
5. Send one message in the chat. Then leave with the red phone button.
6. In the address bar type meet.google.com. Press `Enter`.
7. Click New meeting, then Start an instant meeting.
8. Click Copy joining info.
9. Go back to Gmail. Compose a message to yourself, paste with `Ctrl` + `V`, and send.

YOU ARE DONE WHEN

The link to a meeting you created is sitting in your own inbox.

Take this home · Email

THING	WHAT IT MEANS
To	The people the message is for. They should read and reply.
CC	People who should know but don't need to act. Everyone sees them.
BCC	A hidden copy. Use this when emailing a group who don't know each other.
Reply	Goes to the sender only.
Reply All	Goes to everyone. Check the To line first.
Forward	Sends the message on to someone new.
Archive	Out of the inbox, still findable. Use this for most things.
Delete	To Trash. Gone permanently after about 30 days.
Label	A tag. One message can carry several.

> NEVER
>
> Open an attachment you were not expecting, even from someone you know. Check with them another way first.

Take this home · Video calls

1. The invitation is in your email. Open it and click the button.
2. Click Allow for camera and microphone. You still control both once you are inside.
3. Check the preview screen before you join. Nobody can see you yet.
4. Stay muted unless you are speaking.
5. Face the light, plug in your charger, blur the background.

> IF SOMETHING GOES WRONG
>
> Buttons vanished? Move your finger on the touchpad — they hide when you stop moving.
> Waiting room? Just wait. Don't close the tab and don't rejoin.
> Left by accident? Click the link again. You go straight back in.
> Frozen or robotic? That is usually the Wi-Fi, not your laptop. Move closer to the router.

Shortcuts worth remembering

KEYS	WHAT IT DOES
`Ctrl` + `Z`	Undo — works in Gmail, Docs, and Sheets too
